Callahan Counts Himself Lucky in Drafting Young Players.

HOPE FOR THE WHITE SOX John M. Ward's Appetite for Baseball Sharpened by Owning Part of a Team.

Jimmy Callahan, the new manager of the Chicago White Sox, is either wonderfully optimistic or else he has been unusually lucky in drafting and purchasing young players.

To pick up six or seven recruits of major league caliber in one spring seems almost impossible, but that's what the Sox have done.

There are enough catchers in camp to supply about three teams and all of them are good ones.

Tim Murahan, writing from the camp of the Boston Braves, at Augusta, Ga., says: "I never saw a man so interested in baseball and its team as John M. Ward."

"Every youngster will get a thorough try-out under Ward and John Kling. The club catcher is the happiest man on the team and is proving to be a fine mixer with the players and public."

The one-hour race promises to be the feature of the professional athletic meet at the 12th Regiment armory this evening.

The other events will be a two-mile professional walking race, with the following starters: Sam Liebigold, scratch; Gus Newkirk, scratch; G. Frazer, 4 seconds; Pete Hegelman and Ed Trolley 2 minutes; a two-mile bicycle pursuit race, between George Cameron and Jack Clarke, of Louisville; and a two-mile professional roller skating race between William Blackburn, Harry Macdonald, J. MacCormack and H. Janssens.
